BERLIN, April 21.—After a week end of heavy fighting German shock divisions swept southward across the Grecian plain of Thessaly today to points below Larissa on a broad front.

Mechanized forces, including tank corps, raced forward under full pressure in a wild dash to encircle and trap retreating Anglo-Greek troops, German authorities said.

With the advanced German forces only 100 miles from Athens, the Greek government was reported sending out armistice feelers through an unnamed "third party."

Reported Advancing
German forces advancing south of Larissa and Trikkala were reported advancing rapidly down toward the Gulf of Corinth and the eastern Greek railroad center of Lamia adjoining the Talanti canal.

On the western wing of the front, an official announcement stated, German troops pushing westward across the Pindus Mountains captured an important pass near Metsovo, about 25 miles northeast of Yania.

Premier Antonescu's Rumanian Loyalists And 'Iron Guards' Clash

LONDON, April 21.—Civil war in Rumania—allegedly Soviet-inspired—is now inevitable, a well-informed source told this correspondent today.

The movement has the double purpose of hindering German progress in the Balkans and aiding the start of a "world revolution" which the Kremlin is believed to hope will occur in the disorganization following the war.

BUDAPEST, April 21.—A bloody "final clash" between forces loyal to the Rumanian government of Premier Gen. Ion Antonescu and members of the "Iron Guard" was reported today.

ported raging at white heat today.

Reports from the Hungaro-Rumanian border stated incessant shooting of rifles had been heard from Rumanian territory since Saturday and that the rattle of machine gun fire began last night.

Refugees arriving in Hungary from Rumanian danger zones said Antonescu rushed his best and most trusted troops against Iron Guardist "mutineers" who were said to have charged that the Rumanian premier, "like former King Carol," was an "enemy of the nation."

Tank corps likewise were reported ready to move against the Iron Guardist rebels.

Six States Suffer Huge Damage In Big Forest Fires

MANY HOMELESS
RESULT OF FIRES

Hundreds Of Square Miles
Of Woodland Burned
Over In Eastern Areas

(International News Service)

The American Red Cross today took over the work of caring for the homeless in the wake of giant forest fires which yesterday swept through tinder-dry areas in New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts, Maryland, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania.

With hundreds of square miles of woodlands burnt over and damage running into the millions of dollars, reports from all six states indicated the majority of blazes were under control at an early hour today.

New Jersey Hard Hit
The most damaging blazes occurred in New Jersey, where the state forest service reported that 45 raged during the day, five being of dangerous proportions. Authorities were investigating reports that some of the fires were incendiary.

Roaring over the Jersey woodlands, the fires laid waste to an estimated 120 square miles, destroying approximately 200 homes in the Lakewood-Lakehurst areas and ravaged the state to points south of Atlantic City.

Property damage in New Jersey was reported in the vicinity of $3,000,000. One man was dead and of the thousands who pitched in to stop the sweeping fires, scores were injured. Dozens of small fires still crackled through the timberlands today.

In New York state, eight fires raged, one of a fire-fighting crew was killed while working with a gang near the Braxton county game refuge. Twenty-one fires swept through Luzerne, Schuylkill and Carbon counties in Pennsylvania.

Both the eastern and western shores of Maryland suffered major fires. South of Baltimore scores of fires.

Hold Janitor In Burning Of Girl's Body

Ruth Zwicker

Finding of jewelry and human bones in the furnace of North Hill Methodist church, Akron, O., has led to an admission by the church janitor, Albert Lukens, that he stuffed the body of 24-year-old Ruth Zwicker into the furnace and burned it on Easter morning, according to police. He allegedly said that she had fallen and struck her head while repulsing his advances. In the picture at left, Lukens is shown, seated right, as he was questioned by Detectives J. J. Davis and Harry Kimerer, standing, and Detective Inspector Vern E. Cross, seated left.

AKRON, O., April 21.—Deputy Detective Inspector Gilbert Mosely said today a first-degree murder charge would be filed against Albert B. Lukens, 58-year-old janitor of the North Hill Methodist church, who admitted burning the body of pretty Ruth Zwicker, 24, in the church furnace Easter morning. Detectives and Summit County Prosecutor Alva J. Russell continued to grill the prisoner today, but he held fast to his story. Russell said the death was "perhaps the most shocking in the history of Summit county," and that he was unsatisfied by Lukens' story.

Nearly 6,000 Students Shared Competition In State Finals Here

With contestants and judges agreed that the contests held in New Castle were among the most successful ever held, the fourteenth annual contests of the Pennsylvania Forensic and Music League finished late Saturday afternoon.

By six o'clock the special buses and cars were homeward bound carrying with them the student army that had held New Castle for two days.

Saturday's competition included the larger units of musicians, bands, choruses and orchestras. Perhaps it was the spirit of hospitality, but New Castle did not win a first in either of the three large events, Class A orchestra, Class A band and

Weather Perfect
The perfect weather that prevailed accounted for the huge attendance, nearly 6,000 being registered for the events. In spite of the crowd the contests went forward without a hitch, events were held on scheduled time and the judges returned their decisions promptly.

Athens Report Declares

ATHENS, April 21.—German advances have forced Anglo-Greek defenders of ancient Hellas to fall back, but the "modified" Allied line is holding up intact against furious Nazi air and land assaults, the Greek high command announced today.

Repeated assaults of reinforced German and Italian legions have been thrown back, although Axis planes supported the attacking troops and spread death and damage far over Greece, it was stated.

Germany was reported "sacrificing" the lives of "thousands" of Nazi soldiers as the great battle entered its sixth day. But the best German efforts failed to break the new Allied line at any point, the high command said.

(Editor's note: Yesterday in Cairo the British Middle East command admitted evacuation of Mount Olympus as "part of a plan to establish a shorter line.") A communique said that "Greek and British imperial troops are continuing their withdrawal to new positions in Greece and are inflicting heavy casualties on the enemy."

With approximately 6,000 high school students from all parts of the state having been here during a two day period, as competitors in the finals of the Pennsylvania Music and Forensic League, New Castle has achieved a record for an excellent performance in handling the situation. Despite the huge size of the event, it was handled efficiently and without any difficulties, indicating that those in charge had planned and executed their work in a most commendable manner.

Lawrence County's cherry and peach trees are putting on a flower show of their own, at the present time, much earlier than usual. It will not be much later that the apple blossom festivals will be in full swing here. If the summer-like weather continues.

The historic old tree on the public square refuses to quit. Although it was cut down to about eight feet from the ground some years ago, it has now sprouted quite a tree from the old trunk, and indications are that it will continue to flourish, as the leaves are coming out again this spring.

British May Leave Greece

Evacuation Of Greek Peninsula By British Troops Is Hinted

BRITISH TO TAKE IRAQ OIL FIELDS

By MERRILL MUELLER
International News Service Staff

LONDON, April 21.—Early British evacuation of the Greek peninsula was predicted by foreign sources in London today.

But a measure of encouragement came in the form of reports that British forces have reached or are about to occupy the rich oil fields of Iraq, leading to the punch a special detachment of German parachute jumpers assembled in Rumania to seize these strategic areas.

While most foreign realists in London foresaw a British retirement in Greece, with eventual establishment of a Greek government and army in exile, some quarters still held out hope that the Nazi thrust southward across the plain of Thessaly may yet be halted.

The battle of central Greece, possibly one of the bloodiest encounters in all history, is now reaching its full force of Crescendo.

Both sides are throwing in all available reinforcements. The Germans are using fresh troops from Bulgaria and all that can be spared from conquered Yugoslavia.

Consider Question Of U. S. Convoys

Merchant Ships May Be Convoyed

Report State Department Is Considering Idea Of U. S. Protecting Shipping

EXPERTS ASSERT ACTION IS LEGAL

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The state department has started active consideration of the question of the United States navy convoying American merchant ships on the high seas, it was learned from an unimpeachable source today.

This is the first time since the outbreak of the European war that the state department, or any other government department except the navy, has given serious consideration to this fateful and controversial question.

Assert It Is Legal
State department experts, it was further learned, have decided that it is perfectly legal under both international and domestic law for United States navy to convoy American shipping on the high seas, providing those vessels do not enter areas which have been designated by President Roosevelt as combat zones. A ruling to this effect is likely to be issued within the next two weeks.

However, the state department also takes the position that German warships will have the right under existing circumstances to stop and search American vessels on the high seas, and to seize them temporarily if they are found to be carrying contraband. That is a recognized principle of international law which the state department still respects. But Germany having the right to do so and actually being able to do so is regarded privately by officials as two different things. The catch in it insofar as Germany is concerned is that the Nazis do not have sufficient warships on the high seas to risk escorting to a neutral or German port the steady stream of American ships that is soon expected to be carrying war supplies to Africa.

Handbag Hunted On Wilmington Road

In connection with the investigation of disappearance of a handbag, State Motor Police have been informed that the purse is believed to have been thrown on the side of the Wilmington road, a short distance from the city. If the handbag was found by any motorist, or resident of the vicinity, it is the request of the state officers that it be returned to the local headquarters on North Jefferson street.

aged to get aboard transport vessels over the week end but it was not revealed whether they escaped German air bombs.

German quarters discounted London's claims of heavy German losses at Kalabaka, branding these assertions mere British propaganda to cover up the Anglo-Greek "debacle." They claimed the only opposition the Germans are meeting now has been coming from rear-guard defense units.

The "Wavell Line" in Greece was ripped to shreds, it was claimed. British defenders were routed and German planes steadily harassed the withdrawing Allied armies.

Claim Heavy Losses
On the roads leading south from Trikkala and Larissa to the south, German sources claimed, the British suffered terrific losses as a result of German air attacks. German troops were said to have advanced far below these two key points.

Latest reports indicated the Panzer divisions were approaching the railway town of Lamia and historic Thermopylae Pass, where in ancient times Leonidas and 300 Spartans fought the Persians to a standstill in one of history's most famous battles.

The most advanced German units were only 100 miles north of the Greek capital.

Below Larissa and Trikkala, German authorities said, German airplanes dealt the retreating British forces a terrific strafing.

German pilots reported the effects of repeated aerial attacks on the British were "simply disastrous."

An official announcement said that yesterday German planes "swooped upon hidden bays" in the Island of Euboea and hammered British transport vessels, damaging the 6,000-ton vessel and another 7,000-ton ship so seriously that they were left listing heavily.

In the Port of Volos, it was claimed, another 8,000-ton transport was gutted by fire after an aerial attack.

German quarters said it was evident that the German blitzkrieg in Greece is now spelling the "final doom" of the Anglo-Greek forces and is slicing the various armies apart by shooting Panzer units in various directions to separate the defending forces.

The Stone adherents urge his promotion and Jackson's appointment to the associate vacancy, thereby created. CONSIDER PLANS FOR NEW TAX BILL plemental estimates, with aid to Britain, amount to at least $22,000,000,000 and total appropriations may rise to $24,000,000,000. These must be cut if the treasury's formula is maintained by a $3,500,000,000 tax bill.

First Economy Test Issue

First test of the economy issue will be in action on the proposed $450,000,000 farm parity fund, which raises budget estimates by $238,000,000. This issue may be decided within 10 days.

"The limit of taxation downward means that a man must have enough left to live on," said Norris. "The extreme of taxation has not been reached. It would be to just leave everyone enough to live on and take everything else. I don't think we have reached that."

Norris said that a payroll tax if enacted, must be limited to those able to pay. Senators generally declared that sentiment is against such a levy.

Sen. Downey (D) Cal., Townsend pension plan advocate, plans to offer an amendment to the tax bill for a two per cent gross income tax for pension purposes. The fund is estimated to provide old-age pensions of $50 or more.

Although the administration has planned to liberalize old-age pensions, it appeared possible that the severity of the new tax program might cause shelving of these plans for another year.

Members of the House Ways and Means Committee joined in demands for economy in appropriations. Reps. Reed (R) N. Y. and Woodruff (R) Mich. called for "old fashioned economy" to help minimize the tax burden.

The treasury program, which includes increases on all classes of taxpayers, was understood to call for reduction of a married man's exemption from $2,000 to $1,800; a six per cent normal tax, starting at the surtax at $2,000 or $2,500 instead of $4,000, together with a boost in many other levies.

homes and several churches were destroyed in a blaze that blanketed a 10-mile area. West of the Chesapeake 12,000 acres of trees were burnt out.

Near Boston, a 40-mile wind fanned a blaze that for a time endangered the barrack buildings of Fort Devens which house 10,000 trainees. Several homes in this district were destroyed. Six hundred soldiers aided in fighting another blaze which raged near Leominster, Mass.

The fires in New Jersey, for a time, threatened both Fort Dix, an army encampment, and the naval air station at Lakehurst. Five thousand soldiers from Fort Dix aided the state and local fire-fighters. Unseasonably high temperatures and dry air primed the eastern seaboard for the scores of fires. Temperatures of 90 were recorded as far north as Syracuse, N. Y., yesterday, about 45 degrees above normal for mid-April.

Several Thousand Homeless
Trenton, N. J., April 21.—As property damage mounted to an estimated $3,000,000, raging forest fires today continued to devastate a dozen areas in central and southern New Jersey after sweeping away 500 homes and buildings and leaving several thousand homeless.

Emergency calls for help were renewed early today with no prospect of rain to wet down tinder-dry woodlands. With 26,000 acres burned over, State Fire Warden Leroy S. Pales declared it was "the most disastrous day in the state's history of forest fire fighting."

REPORT AUTO STOLEN
Attaches of the State Auto Sales company today reported to police someone stole a Chevrolet auto from their parking ground April 19. The car did not carry a license.

communists. Antonescu also was forced to cope with "another enemy"—Julius Maniu's Peasant party which was reported to have gained strength in recent weeks.

The Budapest radio reported that Rumania "without doubt" is about to pass through another of its periodic grave crises.

This announcement claimed Antonescu turned down an offer of collaboration from Iron Guard leader Horia Sima, deposed vice premier, and that the Rumanian government was still ordering executions of Iron Guard members in "ever increasing numbers."

As a result of this, the Budapest radio said, there was "considerable agitation" throughout Rumania, where pamphlets inciting the populace against the government were being distributed.

Parts of the Rumanian frontier were reported closed and guards posted along these areas were reported firing point-blank at all persons approaching the border.

Last week the Antonescu government said another anti-government plot had been uncovered and warned

FAITH

We understand there is a city ordinance prohibiting the placing of a radio or loud speaker in a doorway or window, where it will annoy other people, also prohibiting a loud speaker in a car on the street. This is very fine.

But, it seems there is no ordinance, or if there is one it has not been enforced, prohibiting a dance hall manager using a loud speaker to call for a dance, with the windows open, annoying the people for several blocks around.

We certainly find no fault with dancing, as it is a great amusement, but we do not feel that a whole community, who do not care to, or have time to engage in this amusement, should be kept awake and annoyed until twelve o'clock at night, just in order to entertain a few other people. This seems to us as though it might come under the classification of a public nuisance.

DOROTHY M. DOUDS IS BRIDE OF J. B. HOWLEY

Lovely in every detail was the wedding ceremony which took place Saturday morning in the personage of the St. Mary's church, the principals being Miss Dorothy May Douds daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douds of North Front street, and Joseph B. Howley, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Howley of North Shenango street, with the vows being pledged in the presence of immediate families, close friends and relatives of the young couple. Rev. William P. Galvin officiated, using the impressive single ring service.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attractive in a poude blue tailored creation, street length, with navy accompaniments. Her shoulder bouquet was of gardenias.

Mrs. William Stoughton as matron of honor and the only attendant was attired in a navy creation, also patterned along tailored lines, with accessories in white. A mixed shoulder corsage accentuated her costume.

George Chip, Jr., served as best man. Immediately following, the couple received congratulations of those gathered, and at noon a wedding breakfast was served at a prominent tea room. The nuptial motif predominated in the appointments throughout, with places for 21. Pastel tints were used in all details, and the traditional tiered wedding cake was prominently placed.

The group later went to the Douds home and shortly afterwards the couple departed on a brief wedding trip. Upon returning here they will take up residence at 932 Harrison street.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Meyers, Ph. D.

EFFECT OF PARENTAL EMOTION

Without emotions, a person would be no more appealing than a stone, steel pillar or icicle. By our emotions we attract, as by them we also repel. On our emotions and their mixture our personality depends. It's a matter of when to be angry, for example, how angry to be, and how to express this anger most effectively.

A parent feels anger in relation to the growing child in varying degrees, often described as annoyance, irritation, vexation and the like. While her ability to be angry at the right time may aid her best guidance of the child, her anger in some form or mixed with fear and anxiety often is the greatest enemy to her and her child. Assuming she has good standards, her efficiency as parent depends chiefly on how well she masters these emotions, instead of letting these emotions master her.

See how many problems never would arise if she always controlled her emotions. If the father also mastered his, the child would have almost no troubles then over the appetite of the baby and young child, granted that he had proper medical care; and almost none over his sleeping habits. Tantrums, thumb-sucking, nail-biting and stuttering would be very rare, indeed.

Yet complete self-mastery of emotions in such situations is too much to expect in any mother, or even to imagine in a father (barring a few exceptions). Nevertheless, it is an objective worth working toward and some mothers do seem about to reach it, so poised and self-controlled are they.

Where is the mother who feels no inner conflicts—no annoyance, fears, anxieties—when the baby doesn't eat every food she offers it or as much as she thinks he should? Yet her very emotions, in the long run, do most to lessen her child's appetite. Who can imagine a mother without inner warfare as she hears her youngster stutter, sees him suck his thumb or bite his finger nails? But the more a mother worries, and shows her emotions, the more these problems will grow in the child.

Self mastery of emotions does not mean just keeping the lips sealed and the hands and feet still, though such might help. It means turning the attention to something else. It means, in short, cultivating a sensible attitude toward these matters. It means intelligent plans and procedure. Without some such program the inner boilings go on. Besides, they will burst out and express themselves in some way, if only in the mode of breathing; and the child, even the tiny infant, can read our inner conflicts no matter how we try to hide them from him.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. How may a parent locate a psychologist and be sure he is not a quack.

The World and the Mud Puddles

HARD TO CRUSH

The battle of the Balkans rages on land, on sea and in the air, with fearful toll being taken of the brave little nations which chose to die for liberty if need be, rather than live in bondage. Streets of Belgrade, the bomb-smashed Yugoslav capital, have been piled high with the bodies of dead women, children and old men. Captured Salonika has become a base of operations for Hitler's legions. The Nazi blitzkrieg has rolled over great areas of both Greece and Yugoslavia and tens of thousands have been maimed and killed, simply because they resisted the conqueror.

The final tide of battle, however, may not be known for many weeks, despite the fact that the Axis has won the first advantage. There are many who believe that Hitler suffered his greatest defeat when he was forced to split his forces and make war on two fronts, even though he may win the actual combat in the Balkans. While war engulfs the Balkans, England is gaining valuable time to arm for the battle of Britain. On the other hand, even the British Bulldog can hardly stand another debacle such as that at Dunkirk. But it is equally true that if Hitler's war machine bogged down in Greece, and he is unable to win through to a clean-cut victory, it may be the beginning of the end for the Nazi warlord.

Irrespective of whether the war on two fronts turns out to be a disastrous blunder for Herr Hitler, or a spectacular triumph, battle-scarred Britain and the liberty-loving people of Yugoslavia and Greece will probably achieve the victory in the final analysis. Men who fight for liberty may lose battles, but they seldom give up their cause. Conquerors die or meet defeat, but conquered people, in whom the love of liberty is strong, always rise again.

Bible Thought For Today

Rejoice in the Lord always; and again I say, rejoice. Let your forbearance be known unto all men. The Lord is at hand. In nothing be anxious; but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding,

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:44; sun rises tomorrow 5:13.

A new law allows a speed of 70 miles an hour on the new super highway. Some have been going that speed before the law was passed and some did not even live to regret it.

Insults are like bad coins. We cannot help their being offered to us, but we need not take them. C. H. Spurgeon.

A local woman says her storm windows do not rattle any more. She took them off and put them in the basement.

Teacher: "What's a blotter?" Student: "Something to hunt for while the ink dries."

If some people made as much noise while awake as they do while sleeping they would be arrested for disturbing the peace. Wheezing, whining, groaning, grunting, yelling, etc.

A FILIBUSTER

Rastus: "Sambo, how come yo' all dresses up these days? Yo' must hab a job."

Sambo: "Big boy, Ise got somethin' better'n any job."

Rastus: "What's dat?"

Sambo: "Man, don't yo' know what a orator is? Let me explain: Ef yo' was to walk up to a ordinary man an' ax him how much was two and two, he'd say 'fo'. But ef yo' was to ax one of us orators dat question, we'd say: 'When in de course of human events it becomes necessary to take de numerical ob de second denomination and add it to de finger two, I says unto yo' an' I says it without fear of successful contradiction, dat de result invariably am 'fo'. Dat, my friend, am a orator."

In a community a bank went under and the banker opened a filling station. The first customer was a man who had done business with the bank. The erstwhile banker met the customer and said: "What can I do for you this morning?"

"Give me ten gallons of gas," said the customer.

"Can't you get gallons on five?" was the startling rejoinder.

"My word," said the stranger at the dance, "Who is that long and lanky girl over there?" "Sh-h," whispered the host. "She used to be long and lanky—but since she inherited a large fortune she is referred to as being tall and stately."

Some actors can sound hurt and abused, but you should hear a subscriber wail: "The boy didn't leave my paper."

"Are you a member of a college crew?" "No."

"Then stop troking me!"

Johnson was a cattle rancher with tact. He'd been losing a lot of cattle, but he didn't want to accuse anybody of rustling. Wandering over to the next place one afternoon, he said:

"Joe, I wish you'd quit leavin' your hot brandin' irons around where my cows can lay on 'em."

It is claimed by an alleged expert that dancing is good for the feet. That may have been the case before the whole body became how about feet that are tramped on?

Clothes are now being made to match a car and cars to match the personality. We would like to see a car that would match the personality of some wild guys who drive.

In Canada coffee is now made of apples. In this country we make something more exhilarating out of apples.

The head of the National Reform association, Rev. R. H. Martin, a former resident of New Castle, declared in Harrisburg that the old saloon was a Sunday school compared to our present day parlors and night clubs. We don't know how he got his information, but he has it right.

It looks as if the United States was going to deliver the goods to England. A few sunken ships of ours and the shooting will start.

WORRYING MOTHERS

Mother: "Daughter, didn't I tell you not to let that strange man come over to your apartment last night? You know it's things like that cause me to worry."

Daughter: "Don't be ridiculous, mother. I went over to his apartment. Now, let HIS mother worry."

Well, our blockade-breakers are having their way. Food is going into occupied France, and then into occupied France to feed Frenchmen working for Hitler.

Good Taste

By E. A. Parent Office

"Won't you give the younger generation a few hints on consideration for the older generation? They forget us for months at a time, especially the married children who no longer need our advice or protection. They rarely think of calling on us for even a social visit."—Lonely Mother.

Answer: I am sure it is merely the rush of modern life which makes the youngsters so forgetful. I know a young man who has been married for 7 or 8 years and he makes it a weekly habit to call with his wife on both his mother and her stay-in for tea or dinner depending on the time of arrival. And every few weeks, his mother and hers are invited to a meal at this young couple's home. Consequently, they make both mothers very happy. Old people lead lonely lives. They cannot gad about as they did when they were young. And if they are neglected by their friends and families, they feel the neglect tremendously. Too often, it is the result of a bad mixture of marital elements—of over-possessiveness on the part of one, or the other, who is actually jealous of the parents-in-law; and timidity on the part of the other, who would rather avoid and subject a fond mother to heartbreaks than suffer nagging and ill-temper at home. Any partner to a marriage who is thus easily influenced to neglect a parent will later neglect the mate responsible for this evil influence.

Question: Is it possible to have only one bridesmaid in the wedding party when there will be two ushers? If so, where should they walk in the processional and recessional?—B. T. B.

Answer: It is possible, indeed, but preferable to have an even number in the line, since the ushers walk in twos followed by the bridesmaids in twos. In your case, the ushers should walk first, both together, followed by the maid-of-honor and the bridesmaid walking together. Ordinarily, the maid-of-honor walks alone following the bridesmaids. In the recessional, of course, the bridesmaid walks with the maid-of-honor and they are followed by the ushers.

Answer: Yes, even though you are not going to the wedding, it is a good idea to send a gift to the bride. A small gift, such as a box of candy or a bouquet of flowers, is always appreciated.

Can Still Supply China.

However, Russia didn't agree to stop supplying the Chinese. All Moscow said was that the Soviets would stay neutral if the Japs were attacked. True, the Japs do argue that they were attacked by China, but it will take a lot more interpretation to prove that. China notoriously attacked the Japs in the same way that the Russians attacked Russia. Only the Russians aren't likely to interpret the Chinese attack on the Japs as they interpreted the Finns' attack on them.

No interpreter surmises that Russia wants Japan to become over-intrenched in southeastern Asia, but plenty of em surmise that the Russians would like to see the Japs try it, because the reckoning that they would be calculated to involve Japan in war with the United States. Then would be Russia's chance to gobble everything in sight in Japanized northern Asia. Oh, yes, the Soviets say they'd stay neutral. But would they? Nobody interprets the Russians and Japs as being true friends.

One interpretation is that Japan's anxious to have Russia act as mediator between Tokyo and Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese government. The theory is that the Japs are so nearly exhausted that they'd willingly recognize Chiang as main boss of China, if he'd do it on terms that wouldn't be too humiliating to 'em, but they need an intermediary to propose it to him.

But the interpretation is that that scheme wouldn't work. In the first place, Chiang wouldn't acquiesce. In the second place, the Russians wouldn't want him to; their notion's to have China absorb Japan and then to communize China, which Chiang would object to, too. He isn't a Communist.

Russo-German relations are interpreted into the situation. Some interpreters say Herr Hitler doesn't get anything out of the Jap-Russian pact. Some say he's pleased, on the ground that he thinks it will promote Jap expansion in the western Pacific, tending to embroil the Mikado with Uncle Sam. (Continued On Page Six)

In some places in the south coasts are used to pull a plow. This makes it possible to have a work animal and also get milk at the same time. Some of those poor folks in the south sure have a hard time making a living.

Teacher: "Tommy, why is your composition on milk only half a page when I asked you for two pages?" Tommy: "Well, you see, I wrote about condensed milk."

There are many kinds of insanity, but the worst kind seems to be that where the one who has it is allowed to roam at large.

A law just passed by the Pennsylvania legislature makes bowling legal on Sunday. Why not also have a law permitting the rushing of the growler on Sunday?

A bill before the Pennsylvania legislature would permit saloon keepers to sell milk at the same time. This would be for those who cannot get enough of it into their hides before they leave a saloon.

Husband: "You must think automobiles grow on trees." Wife: "Silly! Everybody knows they come from plants."

Can Interpret Russo-Jap Pact Various
Matsuoka's Standing Falls Considerably
Didn't Frame Worthwhile Deal On Visit

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

Interpretations of the new Russian-Japanese neutrality pact are as numerous as interpreters are, and the interpreters' number runs into something well-nigh astronomical. No two of 'em agree.

One version is that the dicker doesn't mean much of anything. The Japs and the Russians simply agree mutually that, if either of 'em is attacked, the other will remain neutral; it doesn't promise any help. Pool! What does that signify? According to this account, Yosuke Matsuoka's rating in Tokyo is pretty low. He's been foreign minister there for quite awhile and hasn't framed up a single international deal that's been worth a cent to the Japs.

Now he has been visiting Berlin and Rome, Nippon's nominal Axis partners, and failed to squeeze anything out of either Herr Hitler or Signor Mussolini. So, homeward bound via Moscow, he absolutely had to take back with him some sort of a document that he can claim as a real but actual-ly phoney!

Another one is that Minister Matsuoka scored a distinct point by obtaining Russia's pledge not to jump on the Japs from behind, as the latter undertake Singapore, Malayan and Dutch East Indian grabs. Also maybe the Japs think Comrade Stalin will stop shipping anti-Jap supplies into China overland.

Can Still Supply China. However, Russia didn't agree to stop supplying the Chinese. All Moscow said was that the Soviets would stay neutral if the Japs were attacked. True, the Japs do argue that they were attacked by China, but it will take a lot more interpretation to prove that. What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Sidney Hillman, co-editor of the office of Production Management, paints a bright picture of industrial relations in defense industries.

"The great majority of American employers share the great majority of American labor unions the credit for the unusually small number of strikes in the last year."

LONDON—Home Security Minister Herbert Morrison asserts that Berlin will be bombed according to plan, not just in reprisal.

"Let Hitler understand that we have as much right to bomb Berlin as he has to bomb London."

PALM BEACH, Fla.—The Duchess of Windsor points out the need of her shopping tour.

"The only clothes I have are my refugee rags I brought from France."

DETROIT—Hank Greenberg, Detroit Tigers' star, is found fit for military service and comments:

"I won't ask for occupational deferment. When I'm called I'll go and that's all there is to that."

The Great Game Of Politics

A Question Of Spirit

WASHINGTON, April 21. THE dark turn which the war abroad has taken, in general, and, in particular, the desperate fight the British are making for their existence, ought to put this nation in a very sober frame of mind. It seems too clear to dispute that if the Germans succeed, ours will be an exceedingly painful situation, not free from peril.

IN that unhappy event, some think that soon or late we would be subjected to physical attack; others contend that our danger would be limited to that inherent in an economic warfare. But no one denies that we would be living in a hostile world, forced to keep permanently armed to the teeth and without a friend or an ally upon whom we could depend. In the light of these facts, it seems time the national feeling about the war should become more realistic and the attitude of some of our public men less light and airy.

FOR example, the quips and sallies, the jokes and laughter with which the President saturated his Tuesday press conference last week appeared somewhat untimely. In view of the frightful London bombing the next night, they seemed a little more than that. No one wants Mr. Roosevelt to bury his sense of humor, and of course there is a value in being able to relax and to see the funny side of things at the most critical of moments. Nevertheless, there is a difference between humor and flippancy, and there is something incongruous in the head of a great nation in so grave a crisis devoting forty minutes of his heavily burdened time to exchanging quips with newspapermen when he has no news to impart.

UNDER the circumstances, perhaps it is not to be wondered that in the country generally there should be a disposition to regard this war and our rearmament program as a chance to reap benefits rather than make sacrifices. Mr. Roosevelt repeatedly has spoken of the necessity of sacrifices, but up to now, except those involved in increased taxation, no real sacrifices have been made by any except the boys in the camps, whose lives have been changed by the draft. On the contrary, nearly every organized group in the country is set upon making gains rather than relinquishing anything it has. (Continued On Page Six)

MANHOOD
Whatever change the future brings, Honor and pluck will be required. These to the end of earthly things Will be respected and desired.

Let us flourish as they may, He will be numbered with the few Who shows a willingness to stay, And fight his difficulties through.

There will be need and praise for skill, And skill by patience comes alone! By all we judge as good and ill, Will man's accomplishments be known.

No law can lessen wisdom's price, Or easier make the heights to climb. Success will call for sacrifice, In toil and study, faith and time.

Oh, eager youth be not misled! Long is the road to decent fame, Whatever changes lie ahead. The cost of manhood stays the same.

Now and then we find occurrences that nearly convince us that there are human beings whose genealogy would show some cross breeding with a rat. Every city has them and New Castle has its share.

The latest evidence of this biological oddity turned up in the court house corridor Saturday morning. Some person had broken the lock on the refrigerator owned by Mrs. Frank Gaston, and had stolen about four dollars worth of candy.

Mrs. Gaston is blind and operates the candy stand in the corridor of the court house as a livelihood. Court house attaches took up a collection and made the loss good but they would willingly double the amount to find the thief.

It seems impossible to believe that any one would rob a blind person. No one knows who the thief is or where he went after the robbery. Probably crawled back into the wood work.

Two sentences were imposed Saturday morning by Judges W. Walter Braham and Charles H. Matthews Jr. Nelson Sarahs of Pulaski township and John Miller of Ohio, were before the court on charges of burglary, larceny and receiving stolen goods. They pleaded guilty to the charge of robbing Frank Harry of Pulaski township of some grain.

Fines of 6 to 14 cents were imposed upon each, the costs assessed and jail sentences imposed. Sarahs got 6 months to one year in the Allegheny County workhouse and Miller got two to six months in the county jail.

Child Falls From Moving Automobile

David Morgan Boyd, Of New Wilmington, Seriously Injured Saturday

David Morgan Boyd, 2nd, son of Mr. and Mrs. David M. Boyd, of New Wilmington, suffered a concussion of the brain and severe bruises and lacerations Saturday afternoon, shortly after 3 o'clock, when he was hurled from the Boyd family car, driven by his mother, as he attempted to close the rear door of the car, which had only partly latched.

As he opened the door to close it tightly, a gust of wind caught it, and pulled the child out of the car, hurling him out onto the highway. The accident occurred near the Elder farm, on the Pinchot road between New Wilmington and New Castle.

He was brought to the Jameson Memorial hospital by Russell Sewall, who was following the Boyd car in another auto. It was stated at the Jameson Memorial hospital this morning that his condition was somewhat improved.

The youth is the son of assistant football and basketball coach David M. Boyd, of Westminster College, and who was former coach at Union high school.

Organized Looting Of France Is Greatest In History Of World

By KENNETH DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LISBON, April 21.—In what is unquestionably the largest organized looting project in all history, Germany is taking over a big part of French industry, lock, stock and barrel.

But the amazing thing about this, the thing that, apart from its magnitude, distinguishes it from booty grabs of the past, is that it is all being done legally. Germany is paying for its loot—with French francs.

Under the terms of the armistice, France agreed to pay Germany 400,000,000 francs per day. This staggering sum (just under $10,000,000 at the official rate) was levied for the maintenance of the German army of occupation in France.

However, the cost of the upkeep of the army of occupation does not exceed 125,000,000 francs per day. Thus, each and every day the German authorities have 275,000,000 francs clear after paying expenses of the army of occupation.

Takes French Industries

One of the main uses they are making of this great sum is the purchase of French industries. By the end of the war they expect to be in control, with clear legal titles, of French heavy industry, publishing and radio.

All French industry on the continent outside of France is being brought up, including the French interests in Skoda in Czechoslovakia and the fabulous Mines De Bor, Europe's richest copper mines, in Yugoslavia. Laval concluded the Mines Deb or deal with Ribbentrop and Abetz in Paris shortly before he was thrown out of office last December. When Marshal Pétain learned of this deal, he is popularly credited with having said:

"M. Laval is selling France piece by piece."

French heavy industry, mostly located in the north, and publishing enterprises also have been purchased on a large scale. A large ister of finance on December 9, 1940, the board of the Compagnie Française Des Mines de Bor reminds its stockholders that a German group is about to acquire the stock of the company and will take over administration of the company.

"The stock, no matter what category . . . will be purchased at 3,500 francs per share."

"The sale of the stock is optional. However, the board strongly advises stockholders, with no reservations, to realize on this operation as rapidly as possible."

Nothing strong-arm about that. But few will miss the hint.

The Vichy government recently put through a law forbidding future sale of French securities to foreigners either in or out of France. If this law is permitted to stand, it will slow down the gobbling up of French industry. However, it won't stop the sale of privately owned industry which does not have its stock listed on the market. Much of French heavy industry is so owned. The week the decree was passed a family owned Lorraine mill was sold for 80,000,000 francs cash.

What's What At A Glance

Sam, thus keeping out fleet and supplies out of the Atlantic ocean.

Others interpret to the purport that Commissar Stalin is trying to hook up with Tokio because he's fearfully afraid of Germany and is doing his damndest to crack up the Nazi-Fascist-Jap Axis, regardless of his loose deal with Hitler and Mussolini.

On His Own Terms.

It's fairly well established that Herr Hitler seeks a large territorial bite out of southwestern Russia, for the sake of its agricultural resources and its oil, and he wants this stuff on his own terms; not as dished out to him under conditions fixed by the Soviet outfit.

And, as Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles has remarked, all the world knows how Adolf confides what he wants, whether from communistic possessors or from democracies or from anybody else.

Interpreters suggest that Communists may not esoy being dispossessed in this fashion any more than the democrats do.

Is Russia, then, hunching away from the Axis?

Well, there are enough interpretations. Take your choice.

Homer Rodeheaver Will Appear Here At Christian Church

Appearance Of Famous Song Leader To Be Sponsored By Christian Endeavor Union

Under the sponsorship of the Lawrence County Christian Endeavor Union, Homer Rodeheaver, world famous song leader, will appear here on Wednesday evening, April 30, in the First Christian church, on the Diamond.

The program, to start at 8 o'clock, will feature Mr. Rodeheaver playing his trombone and varying the program with anecdotes and short talks, as well as singing.

Rodeheaver, who was for 20 years song leader for the famous evangelist, Billy Sunday, started as a college cheer leader 30 years ago. Billy Sunday took Rodeheaver out of Ohio Wesleyan University and made him a song leader after the evangelist had seen his success as a cheerleader at a football game.

By profession, a publisher, Rodeheaver spends much of his time traveling about the country, donating the use of his deep baritone voice and trombone to religious gatherings. In this capacity, he has traveled 29,000 miles, mostly by airplane, and visited over 20 different countries in every part of the world.

The Great Game Of Politics

tainly that is true of the farm organizations, which, demanding their "share of the benefits," have put through Congress the most gigantic and indefensible of all farm subsidy bills.

BUT the farm organizations are not unique in this respect. Various labor leaders have caught at what appears the golden opportunity to extend their organizations and increase the prosperity of their members. Some employers have hoped to use the protest against strikes in defense plants as a shield behind which to enslave effective collective bargaining. And some Chambers of Commerce have come to Washington with demands that defense industries be established in their localities. The general feeling seems to be that the winds of the war abroad have blown a good thing our way—and that the benefits ought to be divided.

TOO many people are inclined to take that view; to believe, as one writer put it, that "we have found in all this period a 'good thing,' a honey of a war, a reemployment prospect de luxe." Even some of our national political leaders use the magic word "defense" to promote their pet projects, such as canals, seaways, highways and bridges. There is, to be blunt, a great deal too much of this all around and it is high time to stop it.

IT is time for the people to wake up, to grasp the fact that the real benefits of rearmament lie in the defense of our soil and the preservation of our freedom. It is time to be impatient with those who see in this great emergency a chance to obtain class or group benefits—to demand "our share." It is time, too, to be intolerant of the ill-timed jocularities of those in high places and of the maneuvering of one partisan group to hold dominance over the defense trillions and another group to discuss what is to come later rather than what is to be done now. The simple truth is that as yet the right kind of spirit does not exist among the people, and the reason is that the right kind of spirit does not exist among their leaders—or at least is not being displayed by them. Persistence is all right in its way, but it is not reasonable to expect the people as a whole to take this situation with deep seriousness if those at the top are going to be publicly funny about it, and if group leaders, without protest, are going to put their group interests first.

NOW-6½ MILLION Telephone Calls a Day!

SINCE THE FIRST of the year, the number of telephone calls we handle in Pennsylvania has mounted to six and one-half million a day!

Each telephone call must be made to order—on a moment's notice . . . manufactured and delivered in a matter of seconds.

That's a big job—but it's only part of the job we're doing today as Pennsylvania becomes more and more "the arsenal of America." Add to this the building of more than two million dollars' worth of telephone plant each month. To say nothing of the everyday job of maintaining thousands of telephones and millions of miles of wire!

We are making an all-out drive of manpower, materials and money to supply the kind of telephone service that will help Pennsylvania speed its part of America's biggest job.

Q Some high school youths whose school reports show them slipping or failing are deprived of certain privileges for a week or two. Do you consider such procedure wise?

A No; punishment of any kind hardly motivates the youth to study harder. It might be, however, that for greater future school success his number of nights out should be limited, even to all nights immediately preceding school days, though not with the idea of punishment but of cultivating a better home study program.

Underwood Again Named Referee In Bankruptcy Here

Venerable Lawrence County Attorney Has Served In Position 40 Years

Announcement of the appointment of Attorney E. M. Underwood, of this city, as referee in bankruptcy in the local district for another two year term by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson, of Pittsburgh, reveals the fact that Mr. Underwood has served in this position here continuously for a period of 40 years, only two others in the entire nation having had a longer tenure of office.

During this period of time, he has never had a decision reversed, where appeals have been taken to higher courts, which probably is a record which has never been equaled. He has handled hundreds of bankruptcy cases in his time, and has established an enviable reputation for fairness in his decisions.

Attorney Underwood is one of the deans of the Lawrence County Bar, having been a practicing attorney here for 48 years, only Ex-Judge J. Norman Martin having a longer record of service than he.

Open Observance Of Girl Reserves 60th Anniversary

Vesper Service Held Sunday Evening In First Methodist Church

"To Face Life Squarely," the Girl Reserve slogan, was the theme chosen by Rev. W. V. McLean, pastor of the First Methodist church when members of local Girl Reserve clubs gathered in his church Sunday evening for a vesper service to open a week's festivities in observance of the Girl Reserve 60th anniversary in the United States and Hawaii.

Mr. McLean said in part that "Life could be compared to building the wall around Jerusalem. The men who built the wall had a trowel in one hand and a sword in the other. Life is like that; we have to be on the offensive and on the defensive, ever alert and watchful if we are going to face life squarely."

This service was well attended. Preceding the service, Miss Lillian Sarver presented a 15 minute organ recital. An offering was taken for the Girl Reserve fund, and assistance to refugees under the auspices of the Girl Reserve.

Outstanding features of the program were selections by the choir, composed of Elm street G. R. clubs, directed by Miss Rosa V. Brown and accompanied by Shirley Webster; the verse choir from George Washington school, directed by Miss Pearl Hockenberry; and the ceremonial, "The Seven Lights of Girl Reserve," written and presented by Cathryn Cantrichers, Dorothy Gibson, Helen Hazen, Betty Lou Johnson, Betty Rowland, Milnera Suchi, Betty Mae Wright and Kathryn Wilcox.

Girls on the platform for the program wore G. R. capes, while ushers, Mahoningtown Girl Reserves in charge of Miss Jane Young, wore G. R. armbands.

Others who took active part in the program were: Mrs. Daugherty, Peggy Lally, Gloria Laughlin, Benjamin Franklin Reserves, directed by Marian Campbell, who gave the Litany of Thanksgiving; Betty Currie, and Florence Badger. The committee in charge of this service included Miss Pearl Hockenberry, Miss Jessica Jenkins, Miss Marian Campbell, Miss Elizabeth Yungling, Miss Jane Young, Esther Bradley, Angeline DeVide, Dorothy Gibson, Betty Lou Johnson, Jane Kerr, Ruth Jones, Peggy Lally, Harriette McGary, Sylvia Moore, Naomi Taylor, Sarah Weeks, Peggy Wilkison, Alice Wynn and Veronica Wynn.

Council met today in the city building and adopted an ordinance which if the Public Utilities Commission agrees with, will result in the New Castle Electric Street Railway Company having been released from its street car franchise rights here.

Dr. Daffoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

INFANT'S CONSTIPATION OFTEN DUE TO LACK OF PROPER CARE

One of the commonest complaints of the day, it appears, is constipation. Adults usually try doctoring their own cases themselves, but fortunately they look for more expert advice about treating children.

I would say that the great majority of children who are constipated arrive at that condition because their parents did not take sufficient care to see that they formed the correct habits.

A normal baby should be taught from the age of one month, if not earlier, to move his bowels at certain periods in the day. In order to begin the habit, the mother should see that the child is held over a small chamber two or three times a day. It is advisable that the times chosen are immediately after feeding times because at these times there is a natural tendency on the part of the body to move the bowels.

The child should be held over the chamber for a period of about five minutes. Of course, you can't expect a baby of a few months to take the hint every time, but it is surprising how quickly the normal child will learn what is expected of him and respond. You see, the grown man is not a baby, but a bundle of habits, good or bad. So the sooner you begin teaching a baby good habits, the more beneficial it will be.

Children who are fed on the breast are not as liable to constipation as are the children raised on the bottle. That is because the sugar in the breast milk is more suitable to the child than anything we can devise. We find it pretty hard to offer a substitute.

Those children who are fed on the bottle often suffer from constipation because there isn't enough sugar in their food or because the sugar isn't the right type. There are several types of sugars used in making up the formula for bottle feeding and each type differs from the others in its power to make the bowels move.

Maltose is used but seldom, for instance, because it is the most laxative of the group. Only when a baby is continually constipated is maltose used. Corn syrup comes next and this is the best type of sugar for the average child. Dextrin-maltose is rather constipating and is used properly only when a child has loose, watery stools.

By varying the type as well as the amounts of sugar, we can thus hope to achieve some change in the manner in which the bowels behave. In fact these are nearly always tried before you resort to the use of laxatives.

Unfortunately there are some babies who are consistently constipated even though we bring all the changes in the sugars. Then we must devise some other means of getting the bowels to do their work of elimination.

Laxatives may be used, but one must be very, very careful what type it is otherwise you may do a great deal of harm to your baby's delicate intestinal tract.

Presbyterian To Meet Thursday At Leesburg Church

Program To Be Of Special Interest; Young People To Have Dinner At 6:30 P. M.

Leesburg Presbyterian church will be host church to Shenango Presbyterian on Thursday, April 24, when close to 300 women are expected to attend from the different churches and missionary societies of the Presbytery.

The program is of special interest, numbering among the speakers such workers as Miss Frances F. Ball, religious education director of Watsch-Logan Academy, Mt. Pleasant, Utah, and Miss Margaret Shannon, Eastern Area secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions.

Miss Ball, a graduate of New Jersey College for Women at New Brunswick, N. Miss Shannon came to her present position with the Foreign Board last year from Ohio University where she had been director of student activities for the Westminster Foundation since 1936. She was well fitted for the work by three years on the faculty of American Junior College for Women, Beirut, Syria where she went in 1933 after graduating from the University of Chicago and Biblical Seminary, New York. In Beirut she taught social sciences, Bible and religion and was director of the Girls Conference of Syria during her first summer there. She has found time to make stop-overs in Europe, take extended trips to Palestine and attend several important international conferences, including the World Youth Council in Oslo, Norway.

YOU DO INHALE.

that's why THIS is so vital!

(all smokers do—
some of the time.)

REAL PROTECTION—PLUS FINER PLEASURE ALWAYS

HERE'S what happens when you inhale.

Smoke comes much more in contact with nose and throat passages . . . and exposure to irritation naturally increases.

So it's wise to know the facts about your cigarette.

Here's what eminent doctors found out about five leading cigarettes:

Many smokers don't even know it—but all smokers inhale some of the time.

That's why you need Philip Morris' superiority for the nose and throat—recognized by eminent medical authorities! No other cigarette can make that statement.

Receives Letter From Scotland

Fireman Wellington Pulford Has Letter From Aunt In Nairn, Scotland

In a letter just received from his aunt, Mrs. Jane Stewart, of Nairn, Scotland, City Fireman Wellington Pulford is apprised of conditions in that section of the war-stricken British Isles.

The letter was mailed on March 16, requiring a little more than a month to reach this city. Mrs. Stewart states that the winter was a severe one, and at that time, the snow had not yet cleared away. While there is nothing of importance at Nairn for the German air-men "to waste their powder on," as she expresses it, still they fly over and there are air raid alarms.

The people of the British Isles are very appreciative of the help which is being given them by America, she states. The people in her community, including relatives, are putting away some of their sheep and cattle, in order to raise more food, she states, but little fruit is to be found in the markets now.

GERMANS BELITTLE BRITISH AIR RAID

(International News Service) BERLIN, April 21.—"Weak R. A. F. forces" attempted to penetrate western German border districts during the night but caused only "insignificant" damage, an official German announcement said today.

Some of the British planes were forced to turn back, the statement said, while others dropped a number of incendiary and high explosive bombs on "residential quarters."

Fringed Gentian Once Abundant In Lawrence Co.

During the past week, several items have appeared in the "News" in regard to the blue fringed Gentian flower, that grows in Lawrence county.

Owen Fox states that in years gone by this flower was quite plentiful in spots favorable to its growth in this county, but due to the fact that the plant has been pulled and mutilated, it has by this time become one of the rarest of our wildflowers.

Analysis of the beauty and texture of this flower, which is about the size of a silver quarter, is hard to describe, and the fringe around the petals is of neatness to behold. The nearest description of the color of the flower is that of the wings of the blue bird, when the summer sun strikes them at the right angle.

It also resembles the roadside Chicory flower.

State Legislature Assembles For Fifteenth Week

Controversial Measures Up

Liquor And Labor Legislation To Be Acted Upon By House Members

REAPPORTIONMENT BEFORE SENATE

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, April 21.—With more than 100 bills on its calendar, the General Assembly met today for its 15th week of deliberations with controversial liquor and labor legislation highlighting its agenda.

Despite the opposition of the liquor control board, a bill to exempt private clubs from the provisions of the liquor quota law was due to be passed this week in the House, unless it is first sidetracked to committee.

Two Labor Measures

Two labor measures backed by the Democratic party and the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor (A. F. of L.) and designed to drastically amend the workmen's compensation and occupational disease laws, were also headed for House enactment this week. The measures would wipe out revisions in the law enacted by the Republican-dominated 1939 legislature and restore the legislation to their 1937 status.

Another proposed liquor act, the Scanlon measure authorizing hotels and restaurants to sell bottled liquor, is up for final passage tonight, when the House convenes at 10 p. m. The measure failed by one vote to receive a constitutional majority during an earlier test, but was placed on the calendar again.

Township Road Bill

Due also to stir up considerable controversy was the Reading-Owens second-class township road bill, appropriating $10,000,000 to township supervisors for highway construction and removing the supervision of the State Department of Highways.

Slated to be passed tonight without opposition was the administration relief deficiency measure for May, appropriating $6,300,000 and raising to a record total of $214,000,000 this biennium's expenditures for relief. Following House passage it goes to the Senate.

Also on the House calendar for enactment this week were these measures: the Democratic party milk co-operative bill, bringing agricultural associations under state supervision; the O'Brien measure changing the requirements for the initiation of Sunday movie reformation by requiring that petitions be signed by 35 per cent of the registered voters instead of five per cent; and the Heatherington minimum wage scale bill for third-class city firemen.

Before Senate

The Senate, meeting today at 4:30 o'clock, has two important measures on its final passage calendar: one authorizes the construction of a "rim parkway" across the northern tier through Monroe, Northampton, Carbon, Luzerne, Lackawanna, Wayne and Pike counties; the other amends the teachers' tenure act to permit dismissal of school teachers convicted of teaching un-American principles. This latter measure, sponsored by Senator Robert M. Miller (R) Luzerne, is admittedly aimed at teachers who belong to the Communist party.

The first of the legislature's congressional reapportionment bills, sponsored by Sen. George N. Wade (R) Cumberland, is among the other bills up for passage this week. The Wade bill reduces by one the representation in Congress of Allegheny and Philadelphia counties and gives Luzerne county an additional congressman. Pennsylvania's congressional districts must be reduced at this session from 34 to 33 or all congressmen will have to be elected at large next year. The Democratic party measure in the House has not yet come out of committee.

News Briefs From City Hall

William A. Finzel, 2427 Market street, Youngstown, today enlisted the city police force in a search for his daughter who has been missing. He told police since April 2. When she left she carried about $100.00. She is described as follows: age 17; height, five feet four inches; weight, 182 pounds; complexion, fair; eyes, grey; hair, light brown, wavy and dress, light tan.

Police pursued two boys Sunday in North Mercer street who were believed to have broken a parking meter. The boys escaped.

Traffic Commissioner Thomas Jones today announced that no parking will be allowed on the east side of Crawford avenue between County Line street and Croton avenue. He believes this will aid driving. At least this has been the experience since parking was prohibited on one side of Spruce street between County Line and East Washington streets, Jones reported.

Miss Mary Anslem Becomes Bride Of Homer L. Osborne

Beautiful Wedding Solemnized Saturday Afternoon At First Baptist Church

ELLWOOD CITY, April 21.—A lovely wedding was solemnized on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the First Baptist church when Miss Mary Anslem of Spring avenue, daughter of Mrs. Martin Anslem, Lawrence avenue, and Homer L. Osborne of Grove City, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Osborne of Franklin, said "I do" to the solemn nuptial vows read by the pastor, Rev. Bernie G. Osterhouse.

Before an assemblage of friends and relatives, the vows were exchanged at the altar which was prettily decorated with palms, ferns and white flowers over which tall cathedral candles shed a soft glow. The double ring ceremony was used.

Miss Sallie Hazen presided at the organ and played a program of appropriate selections. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. B. G. Osterhouse sang a lovely solo, "I Love You Truly."

To the popular strains of the "Wedding March from Lohengrin," the bride, given in marriage by J. D. Sartwell of Fourth street, marched down the aisle.

In a floor length gown of white organza, brocaded with lilies of the valley, the bride was stately. Her veil was of finger tip length and she carried an arm cluster of white orchids showered with lilies of the valley.

Miss Ruth McKay of Ridgeway, a close friend of the bride, was her only attendant, and her becoming gown matched that of the bride. It was of aqua organza and her flowers were talisman roses.

William Miller of Grove City, served the bridegroom as best man, and brides were Thomas McKnight and Stanley Perrine, both of Grove City; and James Chapman and Edward Cable, both of Ellwood.

Immediately after the congratulatory period, a reception for 85 guests took place at the home of Miss Lila and Miss Carrie Hazen of Spring avenue, with whom the bride made her home.

The home was decorated with spring flowers and a yellow and white color motif prevailed. The table was most cleverly decorated with a novel centerpiece. Three cakes joined by bows of white satin ribbon were clustered together to form a wedding ring and about them were arranged sweet peas and marguerites.

Delicious buffet refreshments were served, and two friends of the bride, Mrs. William Brandon, New Castle, and Miss Edna Rossman, Grove City, served the cake.

Guests attended from Saginaw, Mich.; Franklin, Grove City, New Castle, New Brighton, Sandy Lake, Youngstown, McKees Rocks, Ambridge and Pittsburgh.

Later in the day, the couple departed on a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., and other southern points. For traveling, the bride appeared in a smart blue ensemble with gold and beige accessories. After May 1 they will reside in a newly furnished apartment at 428 Poplar street, Grove City.

The bride is a graduate of the local high school with the class of '35 and also graduated from the Bashline-Rossman School of Nursing at Grove City. For the past year she has been employed at the Osteopathic hospital at Saginaw, Mich. Mr. Osborne graduated from Grove City High school with the class of '33 and is employed by the Bashline Lineman's Supply company at Grove City.

An array of most beautiful gifts has been received by the couple since their engagement was announced, evidencing the affection of which they are held by a wide circle of friends and relatives.

Seniors To Present Costume Play Here

Hilarious Comedy, "Dress Parade", To Be Given Thursday, Friday Nights

ELLWOOD CITY, April 21.—For the first time in fifteen years, a costume play is going to be presented at Lincoln high school, on Thursday and Friday nights. The senior class is presenting "Dress Parade," which is a swift-moving, hilariously funny comedy that is really different.

The setting is Westward Military Academy, and the time is commencement week—when life at the school rises to its final grand climax of the year. During this week are scheduled the commencement ball with the beautiful gowns and the uniforms of the cadets, the annual track meet with Centuria, and the colorful commencement ceremonies.

During the course of this week, we follow the destinies of three roommates, Tommy, Don and Rocket, which are played respectively by Rudy Schindler, Bill Markus and Hank Seetch. Although many things happen which nearly wreck their plans, the boys finally come out successfully through three acts of fast and furious tomfoolery.

This play affords an insight into the life at a typical American military school, which is particularly timely at this time of preparedness. It emphasizes the advantages of a democratic system of education as contrasted to concentration camps and other systems of "education" in vogue elsewhere in this troubled world.

Miss Elizabeth McKnight is in personal charge of the entire production, and it is her belief that "Dress Parade" will easily prove to be one of the most popular and successful productions ever to be shown in this community.

The bride's only attendant was her cousin, Miss Ruth Weinschenz, and she wore a becoming poudrie dress with yellow accessories. Her corsage was of yellow rose buds.

John Leight of Baltimore, Md., brother of the bride, served as best man.

CINCINNATI REDS DEFEAT PIRATES

By LAWTON CARVER

(International News Service Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, April 21.—As the first week of the baseball season slipped into the past today, outfielder Joe DiMaggio maintained a batting streak that bordered on a berserk spree and continued to haul the New York Yankees along the victory trail. American league batting champion for the last two years, the amazing coast Italian has especially productive week-end and built his stick average to .484 through yesterday's game.

His batting streak now has reached 26 games in a row dating back through spring exhibitions and taking in, of course, the seven regular season games the Yankees have played. During the latter, the big cleanup slugger has belted three home runs, one being a 10th inning game clincher on Saturday and another, a ninth inning base-cleaner yesterday when the Yanks made 18 hits and routed the Philadelphia Athletics 19 to 5.

Yanks On Rampage
That score is correct—19 to 5. DiMaggio drove in six runs. Joe Gordon five, two of his hits being homers, and Buddy Roser three, as the bombers looked something like the bombers of old in scoring their fourth victory in their seven starts. Red Ruffing went the limit to the victory, while Chubby Dean was driven to the showers in retaliation for the victory he scored over the Yanks on opening day.

Meantime, the Boston Red Sox continued as the pace-setters in the American by beating the Washington Senators, 14 to 8, for five victories without a defeat all season. Mike Ryba won the game behind 15 Red Sox hits, but failed to stick around until the finish.

The champion Detroit Tigers lost their series to the contending Cleveland Indians two games to one by virtue of yesterday's 4 to 2 defeat, administered by Mel Harder, who allowed only six hits until he was relieved in the ninth. Schoolboy Rowe was the losing pitcher.

The Factor girls basketball team traveled to East Liverpool over the week-end and participated in the National Girls basketball tournament being defeated in the quarter-finals by the Cleveland City-Loans 16 to 9, after having swamped the Chester, W. Va., girls in the second round 38 to 3.

Odd Names Easy For Jim Crowley

(International News Service)
NEW YORK.—The opinion of editors, radio announcers, printers and proof readers, notwithstanding Coach Jim Crowley thinks it's an easy task to call each of Fordham's football players by their name.

What's more, the Ram mentor does not just that, and pronounces every one just as it should be. Listed on the squad currently undergoing spring practice on Fordham Road are:

Joseph Sabasteanski, John Witkowski, Anthony Goceliak, Joseph Osocki, Peter Pascavage, Claude Piculewicz, Anthony Poniatowski, Leonard de Concini, George Ufrenovic, Joseph Yakouch and Michael Vuckanovich. Prize to the composer who doesn't "pi" one of them!

The amazing thing is that Coach Crowley addresses his players by their full name.

Factors Lose In Quarter Finals Of Tournament

Defeat Chester, West Virginia, 38 To 3, But Lose To Cleveland Girls 16-9

The Factor girls basketball team traveled to East Liverpool over the week-end and participated in the National Girls basketball tournament being defeated in the quarter-finals by the Cleveland City-Loans 16 to 9, after having swamped the Chester, W. Va., girls in the second round 38 to 3.

The Factors allowed the Chesterites but one field goal, so close a guarding game did Jerry Gall and Jenny Augustine play. Kate Smith with 14 points and Arne Feldkamp with 21 were the Factor scoring stars.

The Factors gave the City Loans a tough battle all the way, the first period it was 4 to 2, at the half 16 to 4, and the final was 16 to 9. The Factors got careless the last half, and the Ohioans took advantage of their opportunity to forge ahead. The winners were allowed but two field goals the second half while the Factors made four.

The Factors deserve a lot of credit for the wonderful showing they have made this year, winning 26 out of 32 games played. Their play in the tournament was fine also. Saturday night, May 3, Manager Joe Factor is going to give his girls a well spiced spaghetti banquet at his South Jefferson street home. The banquet, according to Mr. Factor, will top all others that he has given the girls.

Kelley, finishing second, was timed at 2:31:26.

The record time is 2:28:35, established last year by Gerard Cote of St. Hyacinthe, who finished far behind Saturday.

He will report to Toronto, Tuesday, in Newark.

The player limit for the Lawrence County Baseball league this season is 25, according to Secretary James Martin, who reported today that President Alec Samuels is yet trying to secure a team to represent the city in the county circuit. According to President Samuels, there is a shortage of baseball diamonds in the city.

DETROIT REACHES 25-PLAYER LIMIT

While most other clubs are still engaged in pruning their squads, the Detroit Tigers have already cut down to the 25-player limit.

The release of Murray Franklin, recruit third sacker, brought the roster down to the major league standard.

Joe Orenko, batting sensation of the Giants' spring training, doesn't know where he's going, but he's determined to be on his way. He was an outfielder at the start. The Cards used him at short six years. Then they switched him to second. So Bill Terry has him at third.

Bill McKechnie managed two world champion teams and four National League pennant winners, but his favorite wrist-watch is still the one presented to him by his Rochester Red Wings in 1929.

BROODING CHICKENS

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON -- Chickens that brood will worry themselves into an early grave. Poultry researchers of the Agriculture Department state broody hens interfere with egg production, and must be killed so they will not pass their broodiness to chicks. The average production of the broody white leghorn is 153 eggs compared with 194 eggs of the non-broody type.

COLLEGE 116 YEARS OLD

(International News Service)
SHREVEPORT, La. -- A history student, roaming through the halls of Centenary College, found an inscription that Centenary was founded in 1825. A perusal of old educational institutions in early America revealed that no other college had been founded west of the Mississippi River up to that time. Centenary now claims that distinction.
